Solutions By Design II, LLC Awarded DLA VOC – COOP Support

Solutions By Design II, LLC continues support of Defense Logistics Agency’s Video Operations Center

Vienna, Va. - September 8, 2017 – The U.S. Department of Defense’s (DoD) Defense Logistics Agency has awarded Solutions By Design II, LLC (SBD) a task order to support the agency’s Video Operations Center (VOC) and Continuing of Operations Plan (COOP). SBD supports critical telecommunications preparedness capabilities that sustain worldwide mission operations for the Defense Department’s combat logistics systems.

Under the contract, SBD provides the nation’s combat logistics support agency with 24-hour, 7-day uninterrupted operations and maintenance to support crucial military communications. This includes, but is not limited to, support of the agency’s Video Teleconference (VTC), Streaming Video (SV) Systems and Internet Protocol Television (IPTV) systems.

SBD’s support extends to all DLA sites, and includes engineering and operations support for video telecommunications endpoints and other incident management operations as required. In order to meet U.S. CyberCom and DISA directives to eliminate vulnerabilities, SBD helped deploy Enterprise VTC Software Updates for 650 devices mitigating security vulnerabilities such as POODLE, LOGJAM, OPENSLL, and HeartBleed. DLA users depend on this support to collaborate, analyze information, and collect logistics data to support the Military Department and Unified Combatant Commands.

“SBD is honored to continue to provide uninterrupted support of the Defense Logistics Agency’s video infrastructure system,” said Rod Volz, Vice President, Solutions by Design II, LLC. “We look forward to growing our existing partnership by providing value and innovation in support of the DLA’s worldwide logistic mission.”
