Solutions By Design II, LLC (SBD) Executives Make the Most of HIMSS 2017

VIRGINIA, March 8, 2017 – Executives from Solutions By Design II (SBD) attended this year’s Health Information & Management Systems Society (HIMSS) Conference in Orlando, Florida. Health Business Unit executives Jamel Sparkes and Doug Brown were accompanied by corporate executive Chris Wood at the largest Health IT conference in the World. While there, the SBD team met with over 25 potential and existing partner firms of varying sizes and specialty offerings.

“With several federal Health IT opportunities on the horizon (both short-term and within the next three years), we wanted to understand what partner-offerings would fit best into the solutions that we’re thinking about,” Doug says reflecting on the hectic schedule.

“We’ve got an incredibly talented Health BU team and a track record of high-performance delivery that can speak volumes”, Jamel pointed out. “But, we’re still a growing company and we simply can’t be all things to everyone. We were looking to make long-term partnerships with other talented and committed organizations; I think we met with some of the very best out there.”

“Attending HIMSS allowed us to keep pace with the dynamic nature of Health IT”, said Chris Wood. “With Agile becoming more and more mainstream in government Health IT, we continue to combine our legacy and policy knowledge with innovative and collaborative ways to aid our clients in making sense of their data sets to make better business decisions while meeting each client’s mission.”

The SBD Health Business Unit offers federal and private client IT development, implementation, and maintenance support, combined with subject-matter expertise and experience in healthcare service delivery, data analytics, and population health.
